

TRUE to PLACE

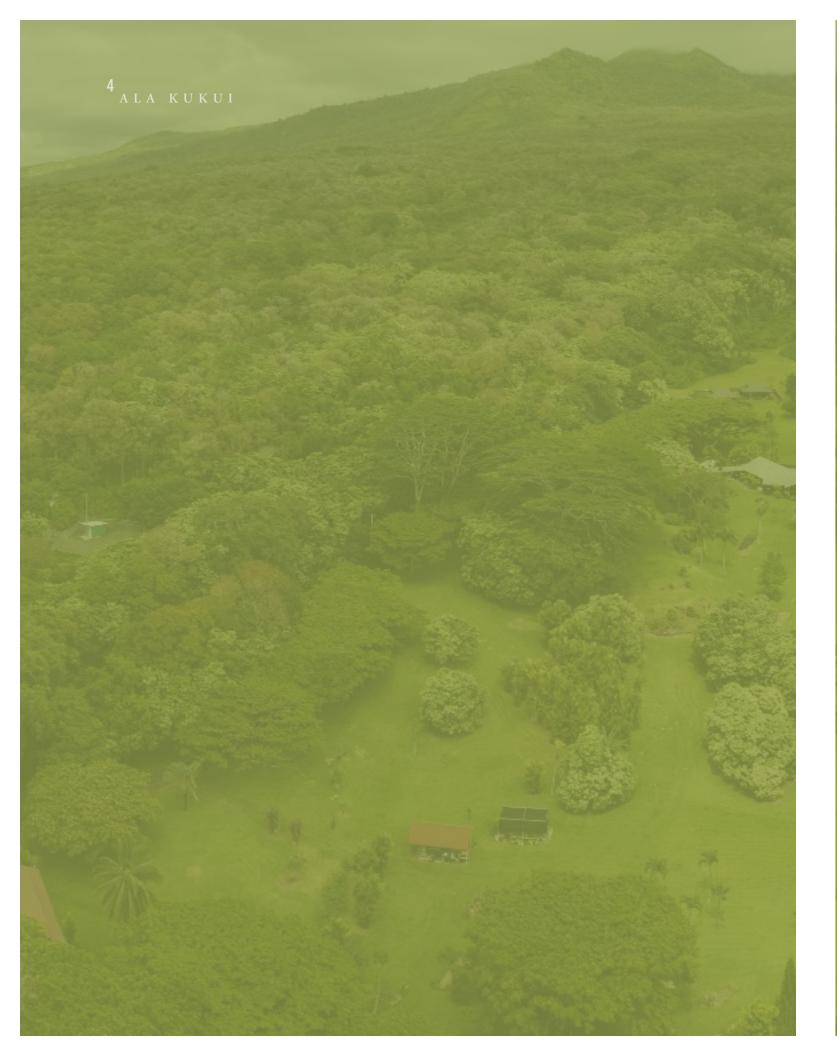

Welina Mai Ke Aloha E NĀ MAKAMAKA,

As native people of this land we are shaped by our environment and thus inspired by its teachings. Our logo tells this story in the purest form. 'Ohe kāpala or bamboo stamping, a traditional Hawaiian art form, is employed to show how nature can graphically and symbolically embody the vision and mission of our organization. The circular shaped hā'uke'uke is an edible sea urchin that lives and thrives in collective communities on the rocks where the nutrient rich ocean meets the shore. The kukui, or the candlenut tree, bears triangular leaves and round nuts containing oily kernels which were used for light in ancient times and consequently a symbol of enlightenment. With representation from mauka to makai, Ala Kukui is an organization that promotes reciprocal relationships; like the ones between sea urchin and ocean, tree and forest environment, man and nature, new commer and foreign place — this acknowledgement and practice gives way to balance, strength and health.

Ala Kukui is a non-profit community-based organization that believes in restoring meaning and purpose in traditional Hawaiian practices that enhance community. This type of foundational restoration is done by cultivating empowering experiences through our workshops, programs and events for community and guests. We also strive to evolve Ala Kukui into a place of shared belonging where Hāna natives as well as visitors feel accepted and connected and through this we are able to build a larger community. With our heritage and lessons of the past guiding us forward the stories we tell and retell, listen to, ingest and digest enables the foundational growth of a sustainable community that lasts generations.

We are inextricably connected in body and spirit to this land and we humbly share with you this relationship. Come stay, connect, find balance and beauty and take with you a new found appreciation for the place you call home.

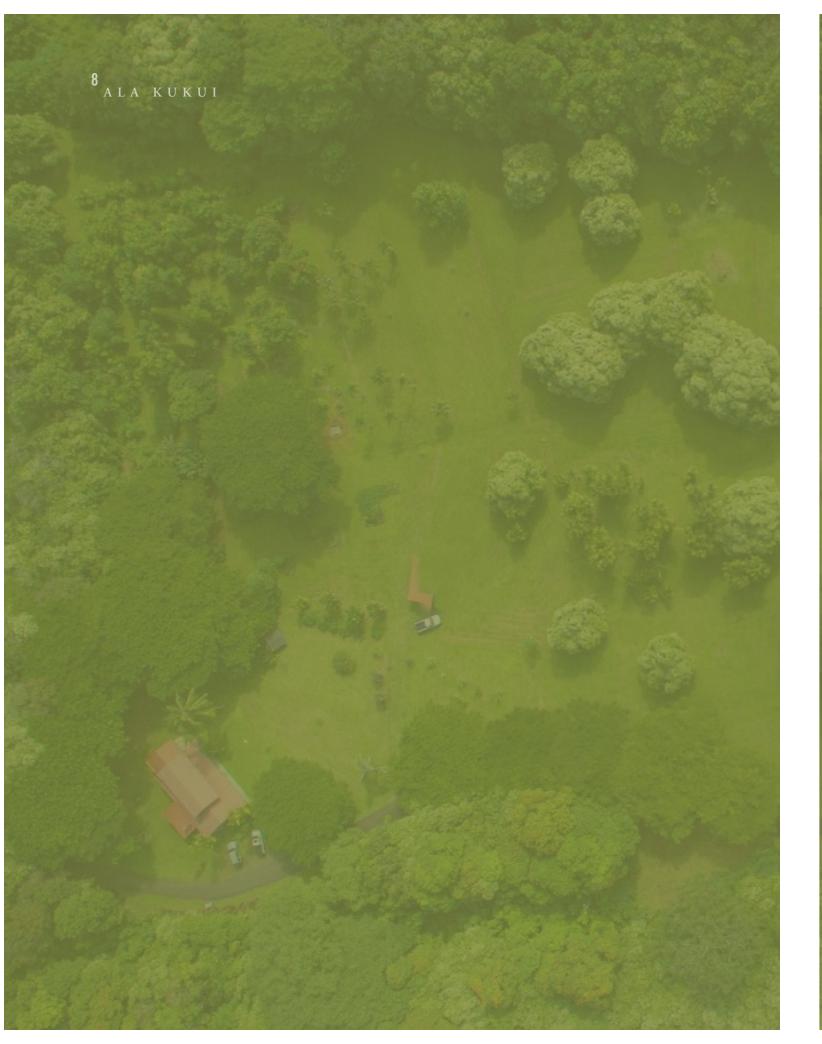

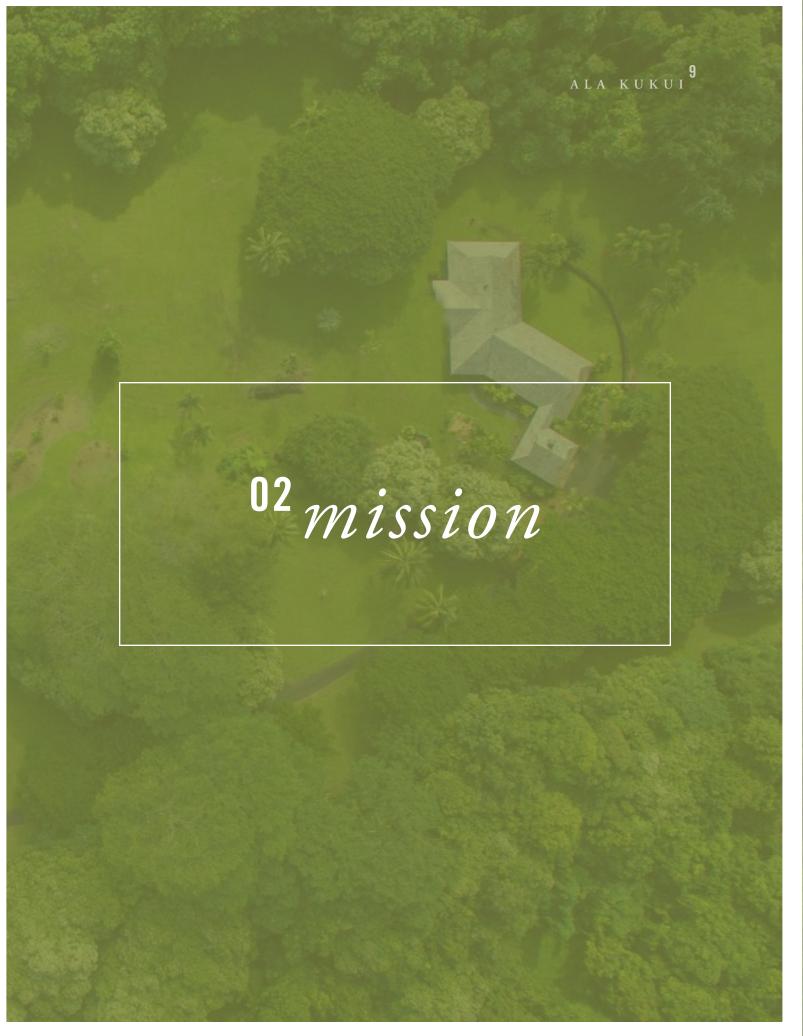

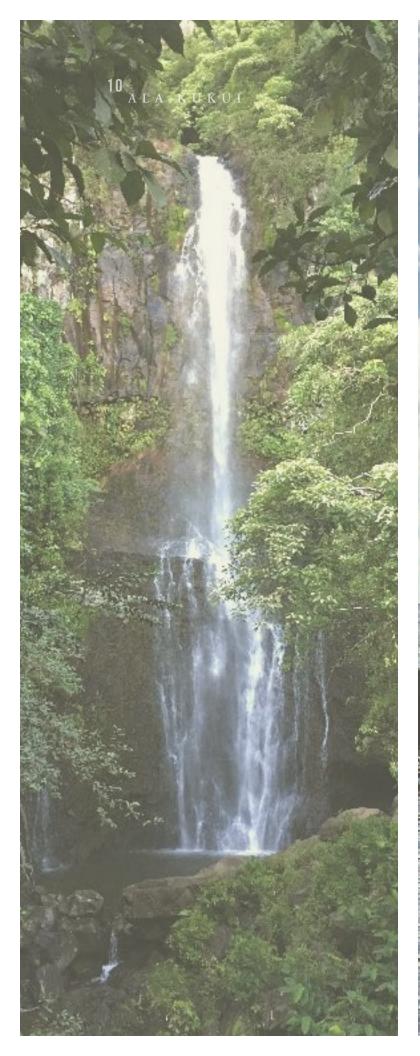

Ala Kukui elevates the traditional place-based practices that enhance our kaiāulu o Hāna and our lāhui Hawai'i.

PHOTO: Keahi Lind shows his son the inctricacies of the kāheka while 'ohana (family) are cleaning freshly caught fish nearby. Always maka'ala (be alert to) your surroundings. A puhi (eel) came to feed on the entrails of the fish being cleaned, Keahi showed his son how to safely grab the eel without harm.

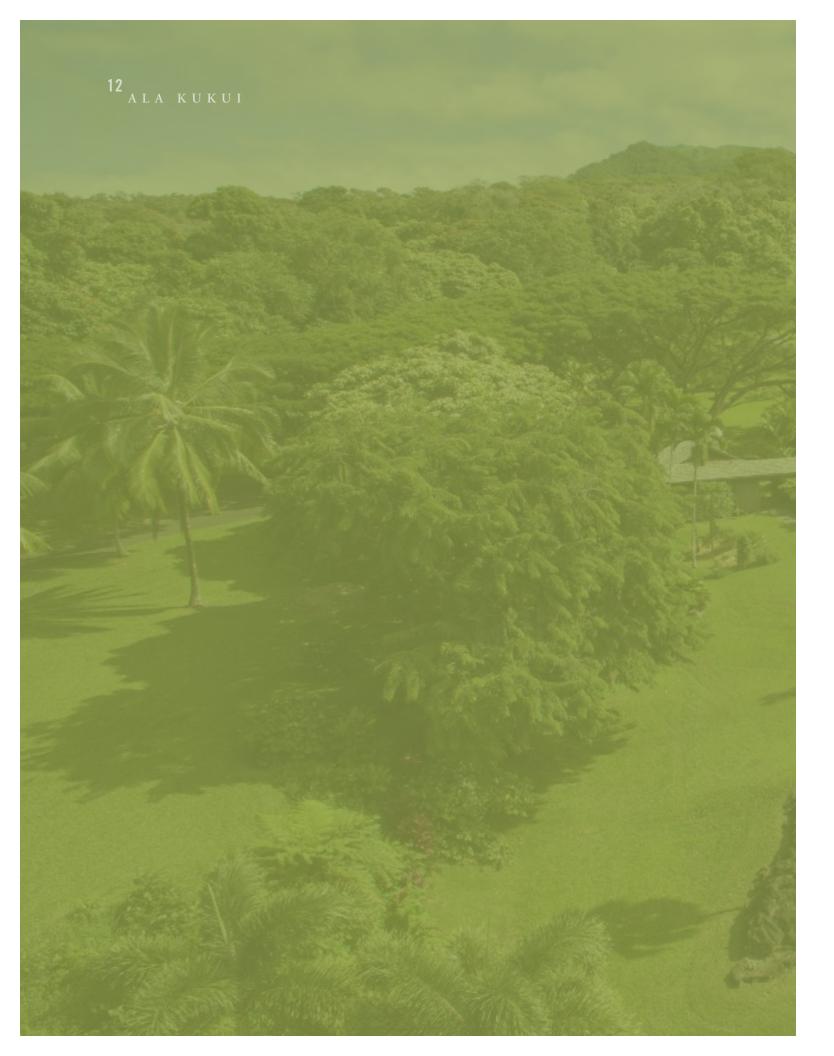

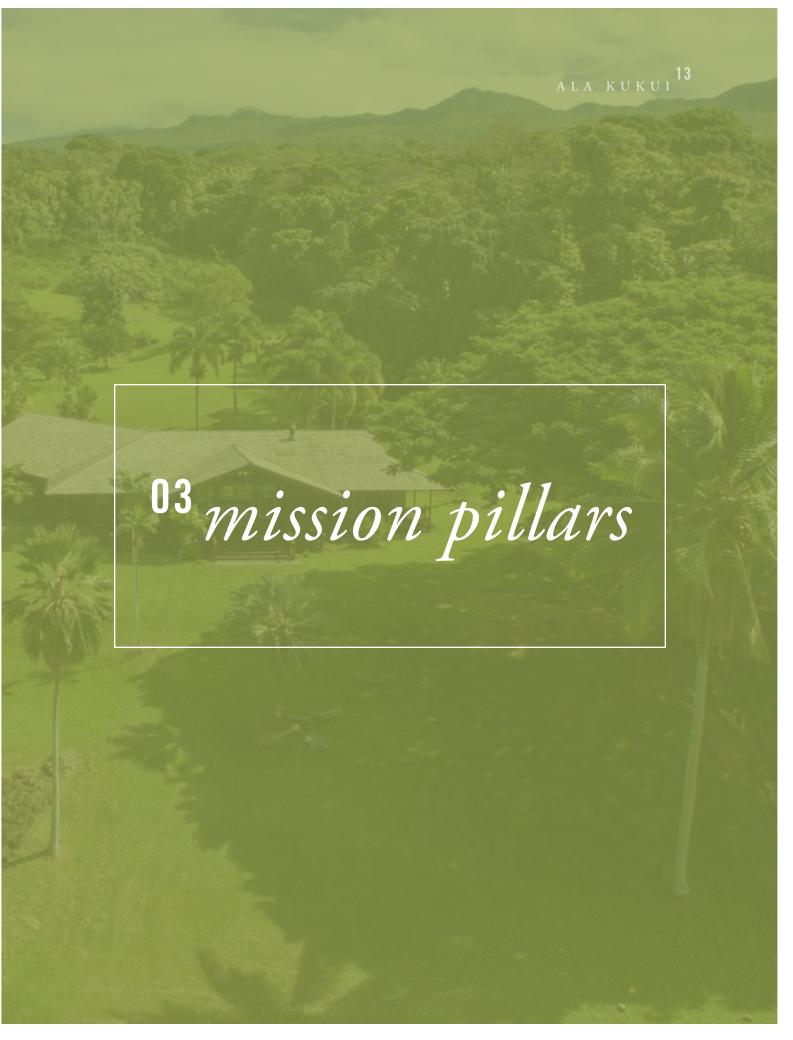

Ala Kukui creates empowering experiences, works to evolve into a place of belonging,
inspires a collective community,
connects through storytelling, and
strives to grow a kulāiwi that is sustainable for generations.

EMPOWERING EXPERIENCES

A balance of cultural grounding and forward movement of our people is what inspires our community programming. Ala Kukui also houses Hālau o Nakaulakuhikuhi, a hālau hula or traditional school of hula, taught by kumu Kau'i Kanaka'ole.

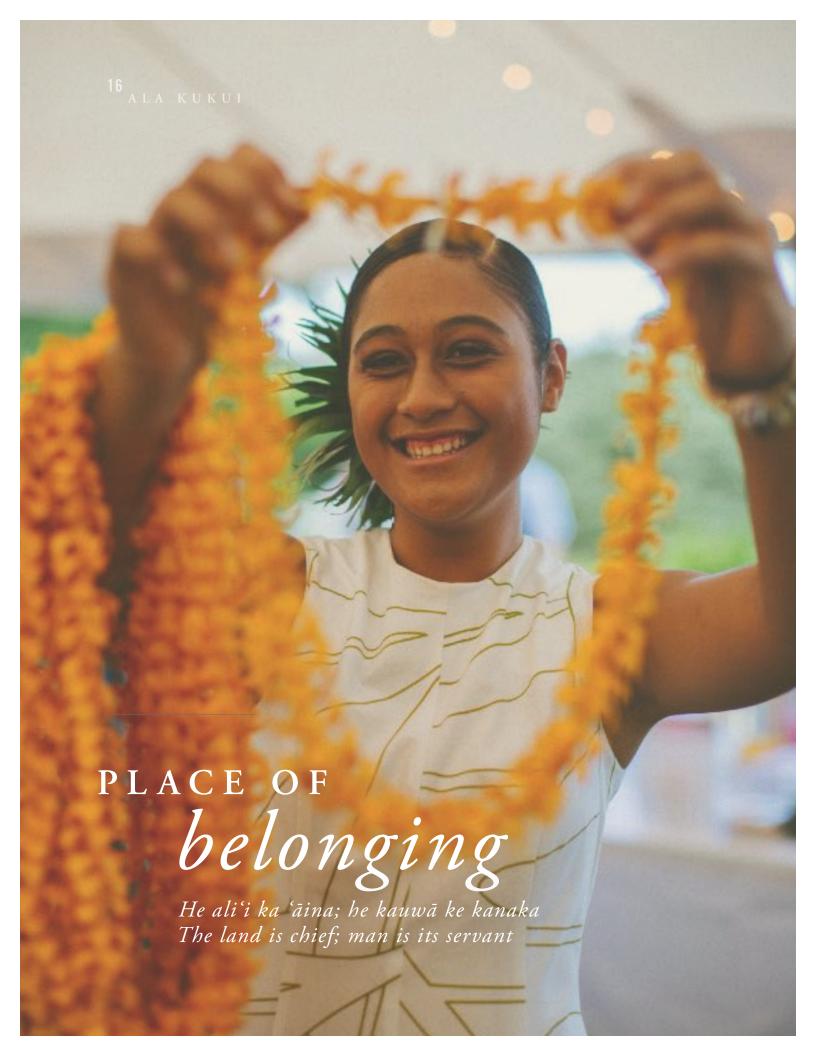

Maka Kilo is a workshop series that invites practitioners in culture and healing to share their expertise and help further ideas and broaden understanding.

Noenoe Nights is a gathering place for women to celebrate the wisdom of our ancestors while reaffirming womens' roles in 'ohana and community.

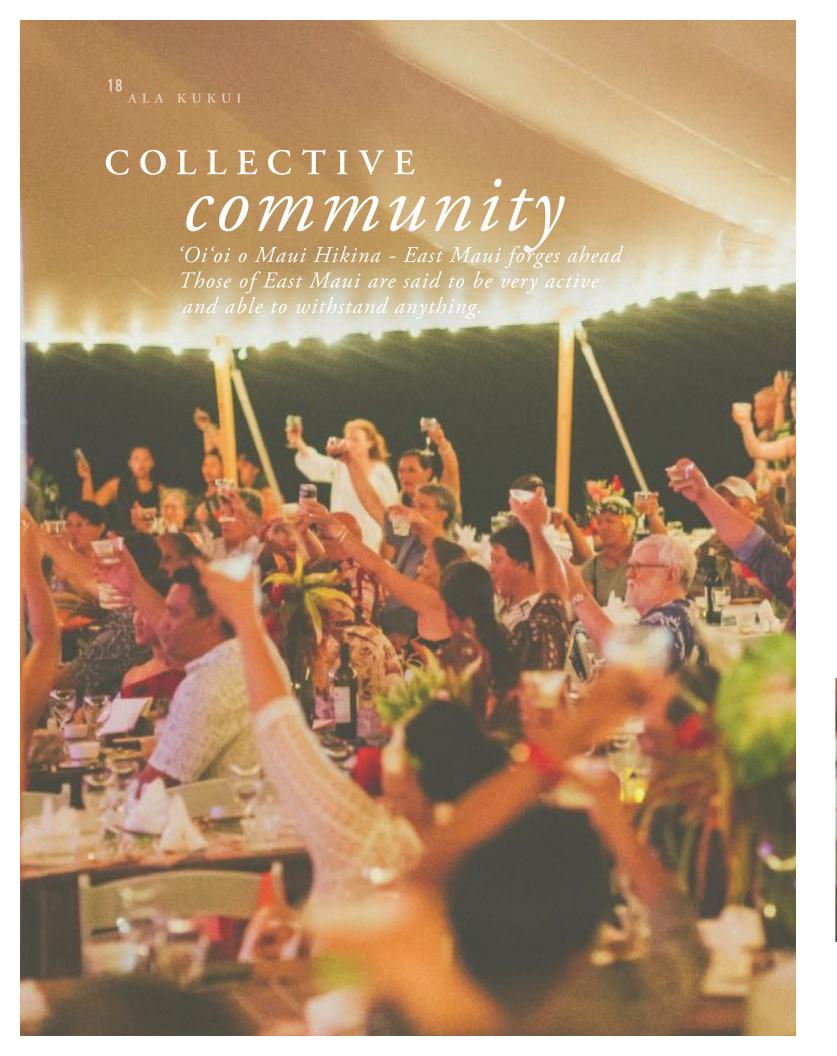

PLACE OF BELONGING

We are our environment.

We honor place through the reciprocal relationship with 'āina (land) that we were taught by our kūpuna (ancestors).

This model of "He ali'i ka 'āina; he kauwā ke kanaka" The land is chief; man is its servant, guides our stewardship of Ala Kukui — maintaining healthy, environmentally responsible practices that are also welcoming to all.

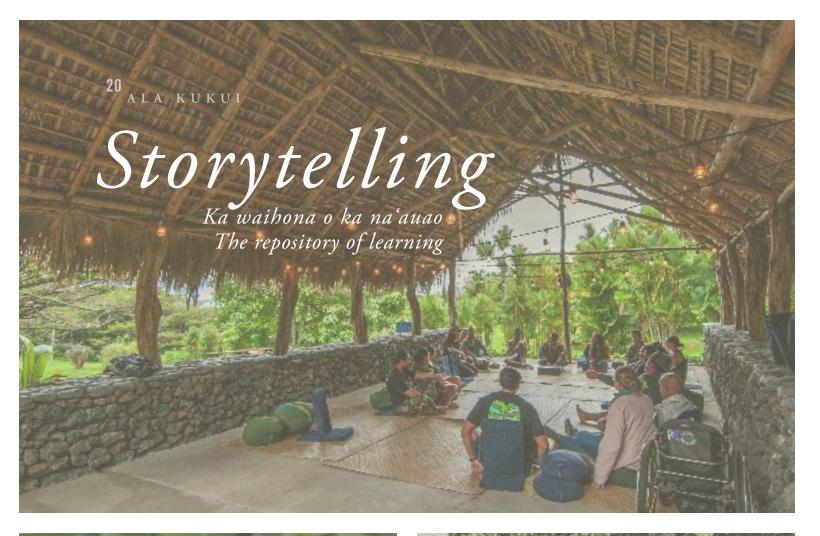

COLLECTIVE COMMUNITY

The health of our place and people is achieved through the way we mālama (care for) our family, friends, community, volunteers, donors and guests. These relationships give us purpose and we work to nurture each of them to create a collective that is bound by the common thread of aloha 'āina (love for this land).

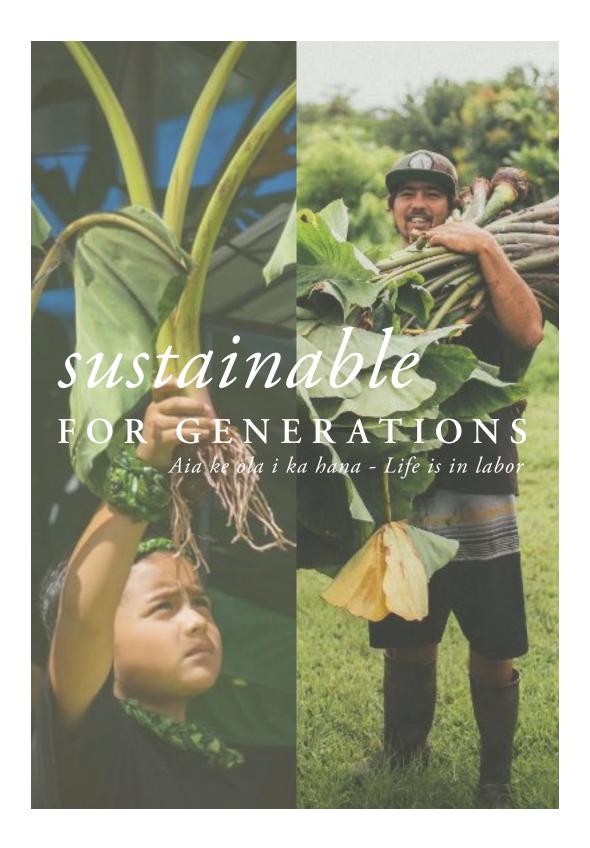

STORYTELLING

Oli, Ka'ao, Mo'olelo, & Kama'ilio Chant, Legend, Myth, & Conversation

Everyone has a story to tell. Stories transcend barriers of place, age and generation. We value the richness that comes from our placebased histories, we continue to tell the story of the present, as well as enjoy the stories our guests share with us. These mo'olelo are timeless, as are their lessons of personal and collective growth.

SUSTAINABLE for GENERATIONS

HĀLOA | KALO | TARO

Physical and spiritual sustenance that continues to feed each generation.

All of our endeavors strive to achieve this same kind of sustainability; our programs, events, workshops, retreats, hālau hula, interactions with guests and community all work towards sustaining generational growth and transformation.

04 who we serve

COMMUNITY | GUESTS

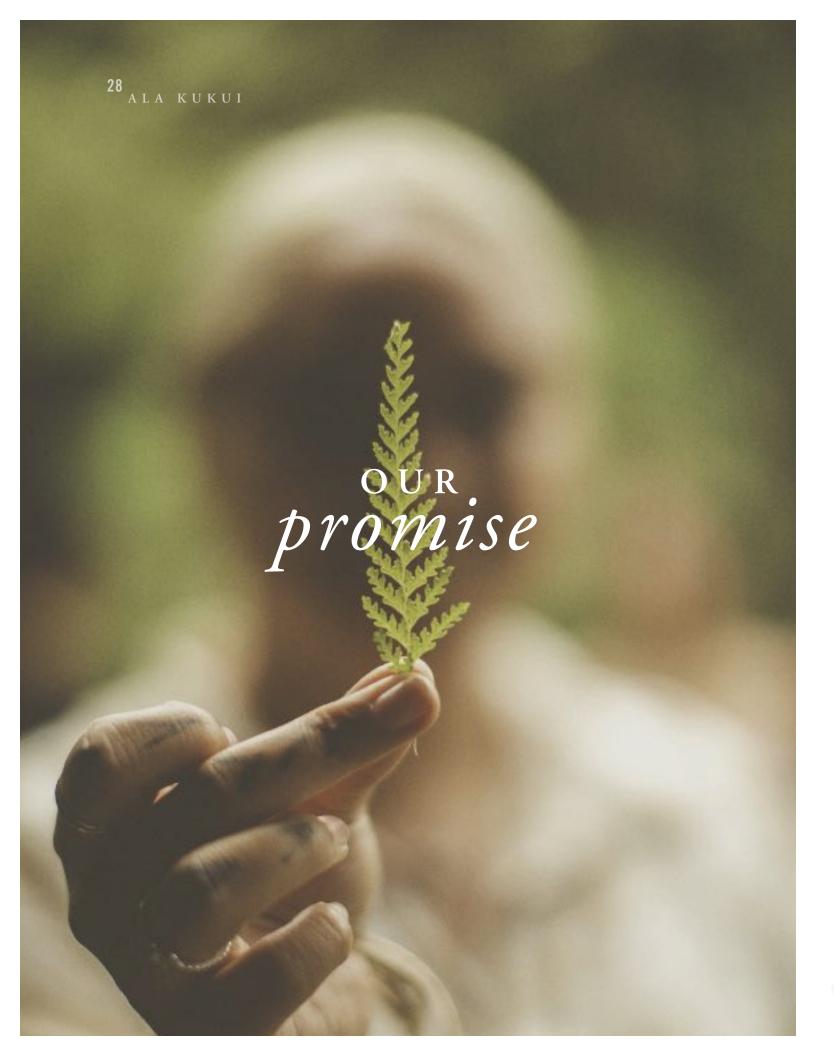

Ala Kukui serves a collective community comprised of beneficiaries like 'ohana or family, hoaaloha or friends and kaiāulu or community. Only by feeding our own community spiritually, physically and mentally, are we able to embrace and share with others. This community work cultivates an inspiring space for our retreat guests to be able to conduct their own work.

Corporate, Educational, Spiritual, Personal, Cultural—
the space is teeming with opportunity to gather, share and grow.

HĀNA'S BEAUTY | CONNECTION | TRUTH

Your experience at Ala Kukui will be coupled with the natural beauty that makes up our 12 acre property along with its well cared for retreat facilities.

The privacy of Ala Kukui's location leaves one open to connect to self, place and one another.

Being remote and unplugged from the world yet plugged into nature and self leads to discovery; and Hāna has a way of bringing truth to the forefront.

OUR IDENTITY

We are shaped by our environment, and inspired by its teachings.

Like the hā'uke'uke, we thrive in our community because of our healthy environment. As in nature, we envision a reciprocal relationship with our environment that radiates out and nourishes our community within.

